Welcome to the winning team

A photograph of three young men standing on a soccer field. They are all wearing red short-sleeved jerseys with the brand name 'PATRICK' printed on the chest. The man in the center is smiling and has his left arm around the man on the left. The man on the right has a more serious expression. In the background, there are rows of red and white stadium seats. A blue banner with the letters 'ISC.' and 'CAMP' is visible on the left, and a white banner with the letters 'TP' is on the right.

We are a true heritage
brand, athleisuring
around since 1892.

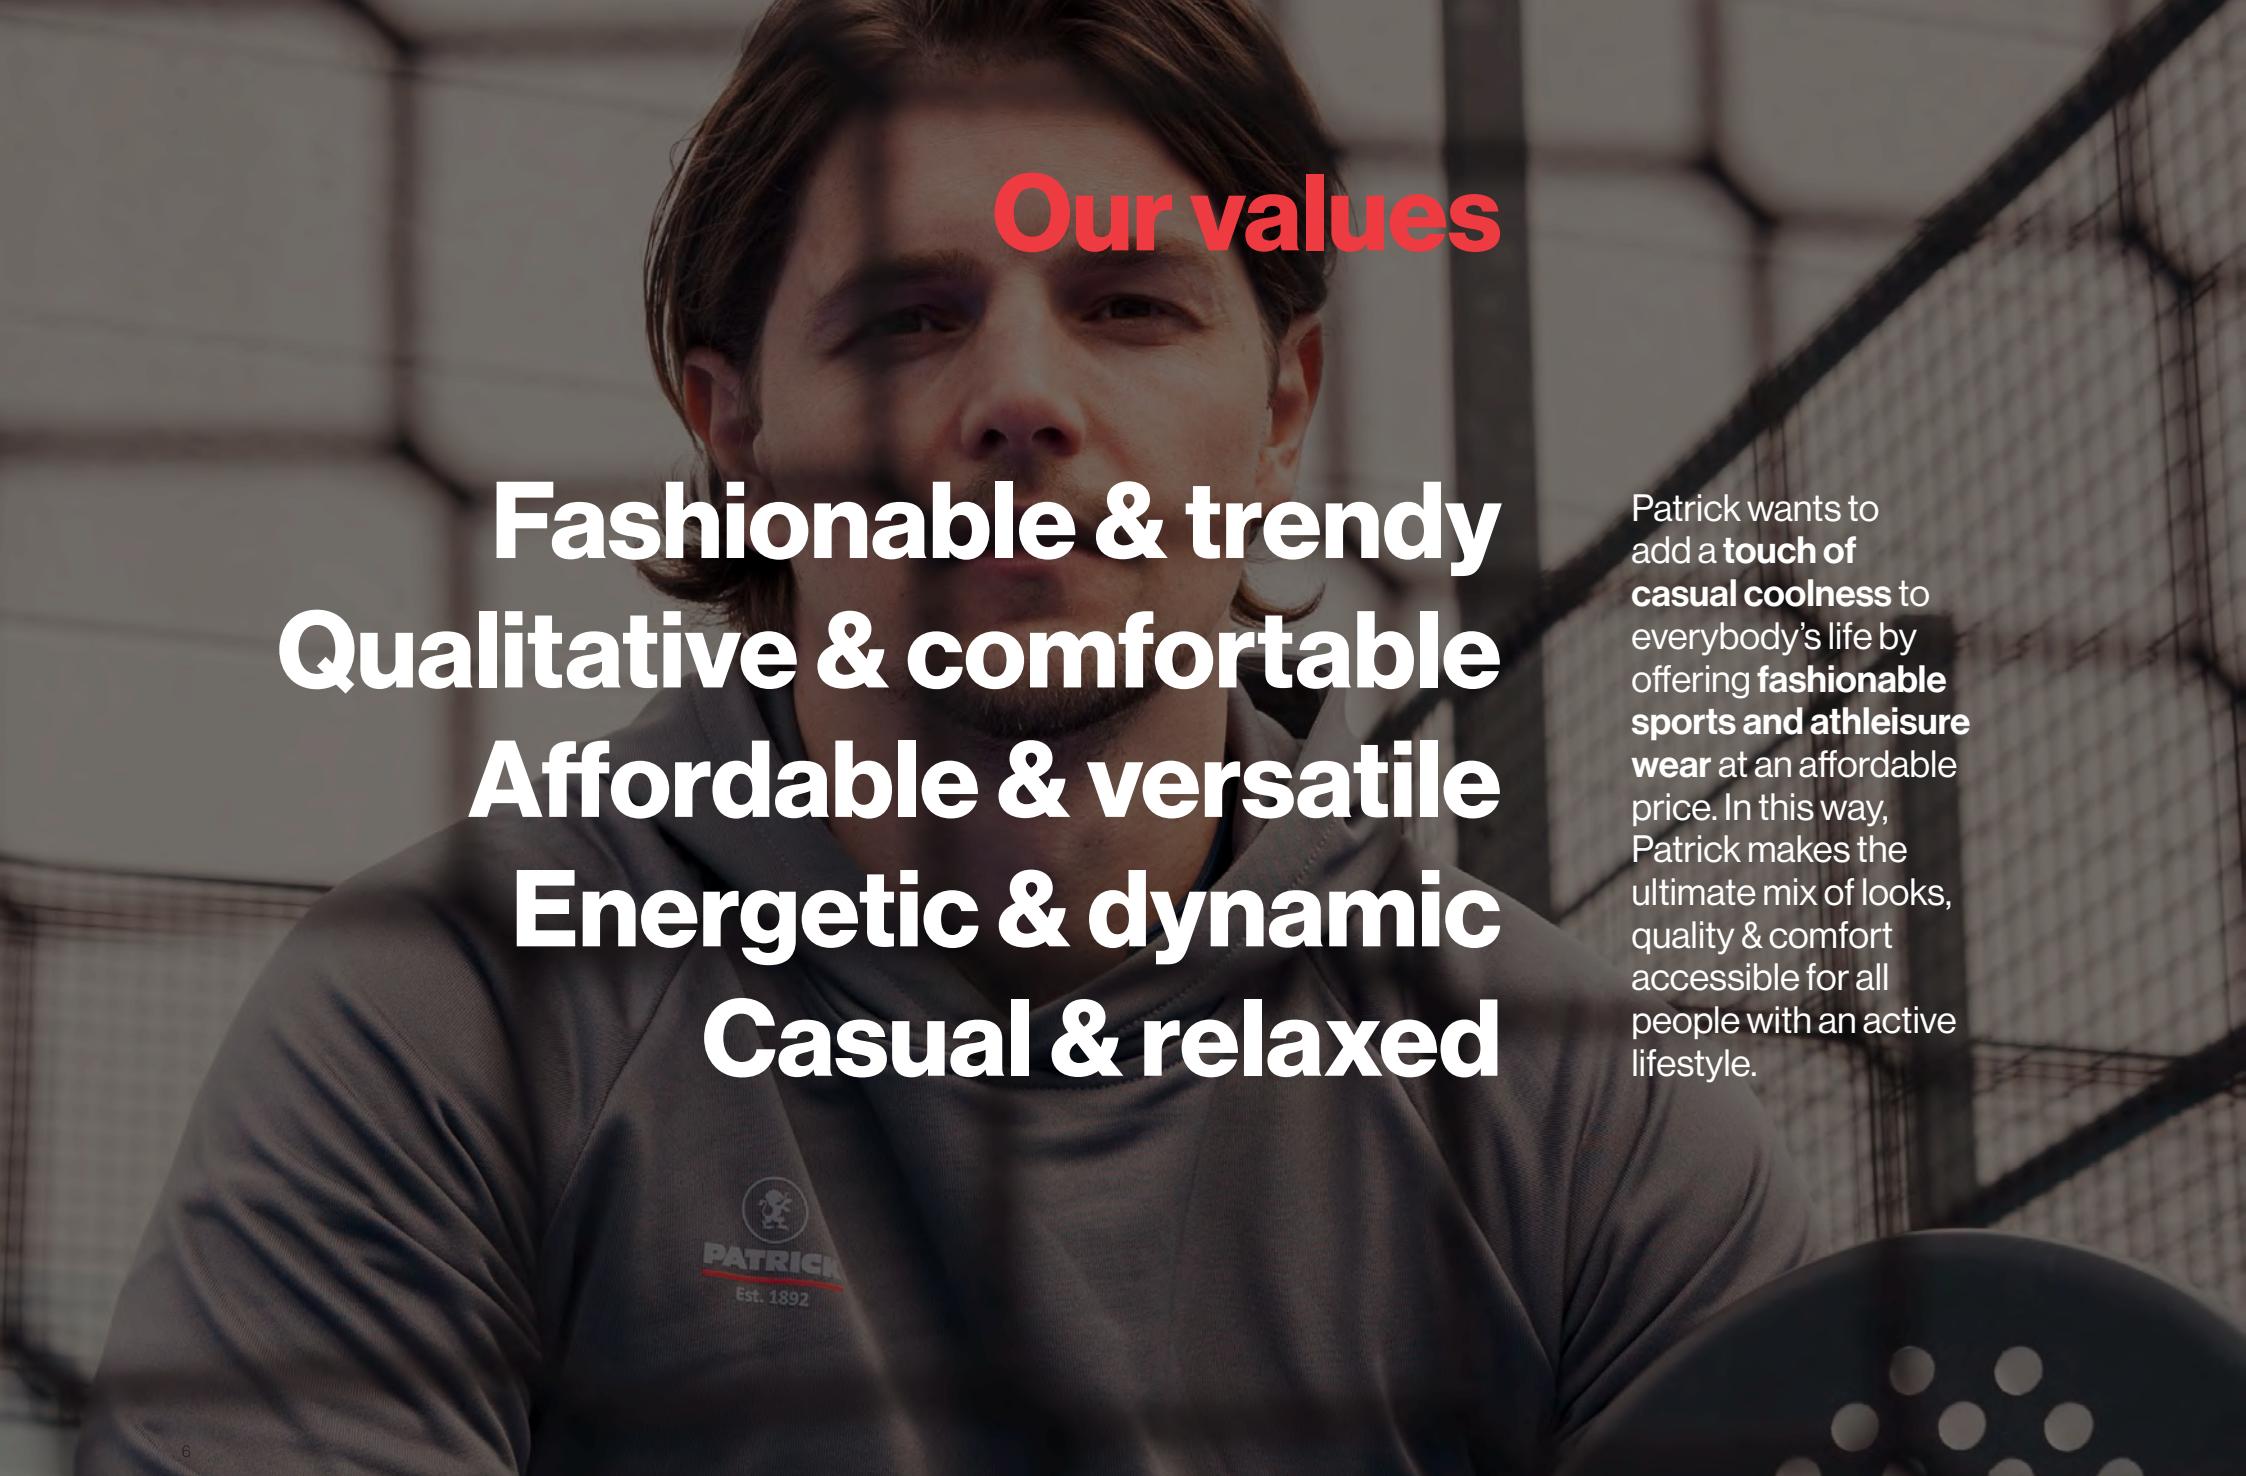

That's 130 years of life
experience.

Brand story

Patrice Beneteau was a 19th-century shoemaker in the little French town Pouzauges. One day, Patrice decided to make shoes for the local soccer team. He did such a fine job that the word spread fast and other teams came knocking at his door. So on a sunny day in 1892, Patrice created Patrick. Not much later he was also producing Patrick shoes & apparel for basketball, cricket, athletics and leisure.

In the 1930s, Patrick introduced its famous two stripes to technically strengthen the shoes. Patrick was one of the pioneers to use this widely copied technique. Later, the striping became mainly a matter of design, but the two Patrick stripes were there to stay.

As from the 1950s, Patrick sponsored many great legends in soccer, rugby, cycling and other sports: Kevin Keegan, Michel Platini, ... Or Jacques Anquetil and Bernard Hinault, who both won the Tour de France five times. Still, Patrice would have easily kept his cool. That's what you get when you've been around for 129 years.

A close-up photograph of a young man with dark hair and a slight beard. He is wearing a dark grey or black long-sleeved sports jersey. On the left chest of the jersey, there is a circular logo featuring a lion rampant and the word "PATRICK" in a serif font, with "Est. 1892" underneath. He is looking directly at the camera with a neutral expression. The background is slightly blurred, showing what appears to be an indoor sports court with a net.

Sublimation matters

When you choose sublimation, you choose so much more than a new club outfit.

Sublimation is personalization. It makes sure your teamwear is customized to your club's needs, matches your personality and makes your sports heart beat faster.

Sublimation is empowerment. It makes you wear your club outfit with pride, with passion and with confidence.

Sublimation is standing out. It distinguishes your team from all other clubs, ensures that they are being noticed and highlights exceptional performances.

Sublimation is pushing your limits. It makes sure nothing can stop you, fuels strong performances and supports your team in reaching the top.

Sublimation is being part of a team.
The winning team.
